NVC European Intensive Course

2nd - 11th August 2019
Montolieu, France

TRAINERS

Frank Gaschler (DE), Irmtraud Kauschat (DE), Louise Romain (FR/GB) Magdalena Sendor (PL) and Godfrey Spencer (FR/GB)

We are delighted to offer, for a seventh year, an intensive experience to live Nonviolent Communication (NVC) together, in a community, to contribute to a peaceful way of living on Earth. We are all trainers certified with CNVC who are passionate about exploring together with you the breadth and depth of Nonviolent Communication, as well as how to grow as a community which extends well beyond the 9 days spent together.

This course is obviously about learning and practising skills but it's so much more than that.

Some people come because they are drawn by the idea of co-creating a safe container where everybody can tap into the living energy of an emerging community, and so transfer learned skills more quickly and profoundly into daily life.

Some people come for the holiday-style atmosphere in the south of France.

NVC European Intensive Course

For decisions made with all the members of our community, we use Systemic Consensing because of its ease of use. If this is a new tool for you, it's quick to understand and we support you in participating in making satisfying decisions.

If you are motivated and have a desire to integrate the spirit of NVC into all aspects of life, this is the course for you!

WHAT TO EXPECT

- Richness and diversity: In the first five European Intensive Courses, participants arrived from fourteen countries and this tremendous intercultural diversity added to the richness of experience and exploration.
- Depth and breadth: Throughout the course, along numerous training sessions and community meetings, we explore together a needs-based consciousness in all facets of life - in relationship to self, others and life, at home and at work, in relationship to inner as well as outer resources. We want to fully explore what life is and what it can be, from the very practical realms to the deeply spiritual ones. Nothing is offtopic and everything is embraced.
- Community of trainers: We aim to live equality in our small community of trainers within a larger community of participants and trainers, exploring and creating together. We are aware of different talents and passions we bring into the course and this diversity proves to be a contributing element to the EIC.

HOW

With a ratio of about ten people per trainer, the programme structure is intensive, with some participants who have NVC skills and awareness well beyond the early levels, whilst others are starting their NVC journey. The course is designed to promote the integration and sustainability of work throughout the following year and in addition to the nine-day retreat in August, there is an option for small groups to stay in active contact at least once a week and to enjoy mentoring from one of the trainers every month.

Our programme includes deepening awareness of needs, integrating NVC skills, handling conflicts, basics of mediation, personal growth and spiritual aspects of NVC, deep self-empathy, transforming enemy images and the pain of unmet needs, so that we can:

- explore and identify personal core beliefs and create new cognitive structures that emanate directly from our living needs;
- reduce the level of pain carried in our systems so that we are able to generate lives of satisfaction and empowerment;
- honour power-with leadership models like Systemic Consensing and Open Space Technology;

NVC European Intensive Course

- shift from scarcity thinking (an inherent part of a domination system) to the consciousness of plenty;
- study the laws of money and practices that flow from a perspective of abundance;
- move from chronic struggle and “busy-ness” to a sense of flow and ease in our lives.

WHAT'S INCLUDED

- A nine-day retreat with eight and a half days' training in the breath-taking beauty of France's Languedoc-Roussillon;
- Small groups which are encouraged to communicate and interact weekly throughout the following year;
- A buddy system for support in implementing strategies.

The NVC European Intensive Course is held in Montolieu, 20 km from Carcassonne, France.

A note about language for this event: English is used as our shared common language during community sessions and there is translation English/French/English for all community meetings (sessions one and four).

Two workshops a day are also translated from English into French: one every morning, one every afternoon (sessions two and three).

The vision held by the Peace Factory is a world where personal, social and global well-being is at the heart of peaceful living, and having held other NVC courses here, we're confident that it's an ideal site to hold this retreat. Even in the intense heat of August of the Languedoc-Roussillon, there are always cool places in the building and by the river!

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is a “working” price?

In exchange for twenty hours of work during the course, which is roughly two hours a day, we offer you a payment of €300 which is deducted from our invoice.

How do I find someone to share a room with to keep accommodation prices low?

Via the closed Google group to which you will be invited when you enrol.

Can I bring my children?

Not if they are under 18 years old because the event and the site are not designed to have children around.

Can I bring my partner?

Of course! If attending, you get a discount of €300 on your fees. If not attending the course, a partner is expected to be autonomous for meals and might enjoy touring the local surroundings whilst you're doing the course. They will probably need a car to get the most out of their time if using Montolieu as a base.

How do I get from Carcassonne to Montolieu?

Being part of a closed group allows you to coordinate with other participants to organise taxi-sharing (about €8 each for the 25 minute journey - €35 between four people).

Why do some people attend the course each year?

Even the more experienced participants don't find it repetitive. The course is continually evolving, so it's somewhat different from year to year. Additionally people report that the material is so rich that they hear something different even if a topic is the same! Most important, peer learning is an integral part of our course. Having applied the material in their lives for a year or more, they enrich and broaden the programme for everybody. They may coach during mediation role-plays, offer empathy and support between training sessions so first-time participants get all the support they could want throughout the course.

Can I offer workshops during the course?

Yes, if a trainer is willing to be present with you, otherwise participant-led workshops are offered outside the daily schedule.

I live in the area. Can I commute instead of staying in Montolieu? Yes.

However, we really encourage you to treat the training as a retreat. The retreat aspect helps you dive in and focus on the learning. You never know when the learning is going to happen. It can and does happen throughout the regular sessions (which run from 9:30 to 18:00 on each full day of the training), but it often also happens spontaneously outside the class. When a group of people live closely and share meals for many days, things come up—between you and someone else, or between two other people—and you get a chance to practise your skills. These are often the richest learning moments, because they are so real, and people's lives are affected by your choices.

Learning NVC is very much like learning a new language. And we all know that the best way to become fluent a new language is to immerse yourself in an environment where others are speaking and learning it too. This is not the kind of training where you can fill up a notebook, put it on the shelf, and call it done. You need to incorporate what you learn into your being. The training is an opportunity for you to learn in a context where you are safe to push yourself, let down your guard a little and try some new things, be present a little longer when you become uncomfortable with conflict, and grow with each incremental step you take. When you stay in Montolieu, you have as much time as possible to do all that.

Is there time to visit the area during the course?

Yes, there is one afternoon without sessions. If that's not enough, you can either miss some of the sessions offered by trainers, but most people who want to do a bit of tourism either come a few days earlier or stay on for a few extra days at the end of the course!

If you have questions that aren't included here, please do write to Louise so that this part of the flier gets richer!

PERMANENT TRAINER TEAM (with other certified trainers who join us for one year)

Irmtraud is a trainer, medical doctor and private consultant. Irmtraud has led NVC training in many cities and countries, including more recently Kenya, Iceland, Israel and Palestine and Ukraine. She integrates NVC in her daily work with patients and offers long-term courses in NVC-based mediation and coaching as well as in social change. Irmtraud also has expertise in healing early childhood and preverbal/precognitive trauma which often triggers reactions, which then prevent us from staying grounded in the living energy of connection and compassion.

She was a board member of CNVC, a founding member and chairperson of her local circle in Darmstadt as well as of the German-speaking network, D-A-CH, and served as a member of GCC (NVC Global Community Circle) and coordinator of the EAC (English-Speaking NVC European African Circle). You can reach Irmtraud at irmtraudkauschat@yahoo.de. Please also see the website: Gewaltfrei Darmstadt \(DE\))

Godfrey has developed a passion for self-empathy as a springboard to empathy for others and the development of quality relationships in the service of increased productivity. He started his career as a linguist and laboured under the illusion that communication was all about sequences of semantic fields. A ten-year stint manning the IBM Europe International Effective Communication programme tended to confirm this! He later did two NLP masters, one in the US and the other in France. Still hungry for something more, he was advised by one of his university students to meet Marshall Rosenberg. The meeting changed his life. For the first time, he experienced the power of compassion, both for himself and for others. He trains, mediates and coaches in English and French, basing his whole approach on NVC. His clients range from couples to individual professionals, from major international institutions, such as the European Commission, to large banks, from local corporations to government institutions.

Louise is a personal, professional, and organisational development trainer and consultant. She established her freelance business in her early 20's, working as a human resources consultant within client business organisations until becoming a mother to her two, now adult, children. Since discovering NVC in 2005, she has served as an assistant at many IITs with Marshall Rosenberg with whom she did all her training. She is a co-founding member of NVC Education Europe, and is an active member of other circles in the NVC network, including Education in France and Africa, most recently in Congo and Rwanda. She offers courses and private sessions to individuals seeking to learn and live the needs consciousness NVC supports. Louise combines her understanding of business dynamics and marketing with healing and transformation work to support individuals wanting to make their dreams a reality.
